It's love that keeps the memories alive

We would be honored to help create a personal memorial of your loved one. Mabrey is a family owned business dedicated to caring and craftsmanship.

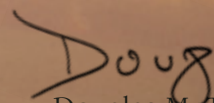

We've been building custom memorial urns, one at a time, for almost 40 years. Embracing the values of old world craftsmanship, we use only the finest hardwoods available, including American Walnut, Oak, Maple, Cherry, tropical plantation Mahogany and exotics from around the world.

Our unique 3-dimensional scenes combine laser carving and laser engraving. We inlay exotic woods into layered hardwoods, creating depth as well as unsurpassed detail. A good example of the 3-D style is on page 11, the Together Again series. Finally, much of the intricate exotic wood inlay work you'll see here is the result of modern laser technology coupled with old-world craftsmanship. Good examples are the Mosaic Panels on page 16, the Walnut The Garden on page 6, and the Ark featured on page 15.

Families who appreciate traditional American-made quality and unique designs select Mabrey. Whether you choose to Make it Personal, Keep it Simple, reflect an abiding respect for God, nature, a favorite hobby or pastime, or just wish to invoke a Simpler Time, we're here to help. And with nearly unlimited choices for personalization and style, we will proudly create a unique cremation urn or keepsake memorial that honors the memory, and the life, of your loved one.

Mabrey builds memorial urns in three formats: shown here are standard, Keepsake and Companion sizes for comparison and scale.

Keep It Simple

"I don't want to be any trouble, just keep it simple."

You've heard it said, and it's one of the main reasons families increasingly choose cremation. This line of urns is meant to fulfill that universal wish. Clean lines, classic design, simple elegance, value priced. Each of these urns is a fitting memorial as is, suitable for burial or display. All can easily be personalized with laser engraving options as shown on page 20.

“Personalize, personalize, personalize”

Let's face it, it's personal. And it should be. A departed loved one is not “generic,” and will not be best remembered, nor honored, by a plain brass urn or a mass-produced fiberboard box with a high gloss lacquer finish delivered in a cargo container.

All of the experts, from grief counselors and clergy to industry focus groups, agree that the key to a unique and lasting memorial is “personalize, personalize, personalize.”

As simple as laser engraved name and dates, as unique as a personal photo or image, or as personal as a favorite pastime or fond memory, meaningful designs and custom engraving make each memorial as special as the life it's commemorating.

Our craftsmen and women have decades of experience in providing customized and personalized hardwood cremation urns, made one at a time here in America.

Those words are from a poem titled “Defence of Fort McHenry” written in 1814. They were written by Francis Scott Key and the poem is better known today as “The Star Spangled Banner,” our national anthem.

These urns are designed to solemnly honor those who served, those heroes who have fallen, and those who wish to be remembered for their service to, or abiding love and belief in, this country.

We Hand Craft Personal Memories Daily

Made in America by people who care

Hand made in our woodshop in Chico, California by craftsmen (and women) since 1985, our urns are built with solid hardwoods and feature personal photography, laser engraved personalization, exotic wood inlays and custom care. We're proud of the high quality urns that we produce the old-fashioned way, one at a time and are honored to build a custom memorial for your family.

Why people have been choosing wood for centuries

Natural - All natural, sustainable, and a naturally renewable resource, wood is the eco-friendly choice. No other material connects us closer to nature.

Beauty - Wood is unequalled for its warm luster, pleasing texture, rich hues, and its comforting traditional appearance during a memorial service.

Versatile - From Maple's austere purity to Mahogany's deep richness, natural wood offers a wide range of style and color.

Personal - Wooden urns are ideal for personalization and customization — with engraving, photos or artwork. After all, every piece of wood starts out unique, as unique as the individual being memorialized.

Why families and funeral directors choose Mabrey

Quality - American made, from scratch in our own woodshop in Chico, California, using the finest grades of lumber, hand selected for beauty and clarity. Our reputation for build quality and ability to provide a high level of personalization and customization is unsurpassed.

Experience - We've been hand-crafting hardwood urns for almost 40 years, since founder Bob Mabrey built the first "Simplicity" in his parent's garage and sold it through their funeral home here in Chico. Today, custom building the finest hardwood urns available, bar none, is our only business, not just a sideline or a hobby.

Service - It's our number one priority. We're here to serve Funeral Directors and their at-need families, and we take that service seriously.
